

Praise for Vouchers

'Dr Alpion is not afraid to tackle the emotive issue of asylum seekers in Britain in his hard-hitting play Vouchers. The drama cleverly and sensitively examines the questions of race, equal opportunities and identity in a powerful and in-depth way.'

Tony Collins, The Evening Mail

'An emotional but thoughtful and well informed piece of drama, Vouchers is also a timely reminder of the consequences of intolerance and prejudice.'

Richard Jackson, Metro News

'Coming from an unusual, if not unique, perspective, Vouchers is a contribution to the debate on the treatment of refugees in Western Europe.'

Terry Grimley, The Birmingham Post

'Vouchers reminds us of the human complexities of an issue on which we all have strident opinions while barely understanding what it's really about.'

Richard Williamson, Sunday Mercury
